

National Dairy Shrine Announces a new Veterinarian Award

April, 2010 Maribel, WI. Young dairy veterinarians can apply for a $5,000 grant for professional development which will ultimately help a young dairy veterinarian better serve their clients. The award is available in a collaborative project with the American Association of Bovine Practitioners, National Dairy Shrine, and a generous sponsor AgriLabs.

The first grant will be announced and awarded in August 2010 and applications are due June 15, 2010. Veterinarians who wish to apply for the award must be actively involved with a practice and have graduated with a veterinary degree between June 1, 2000, and June 1, 2009.

To find out about the requirements and to download an application, go to www.aabp.org. This is another example of the NDS helping another sector of the dairy industry.
